

A-B Express Electronic Selection Guide Installation Instructions

Instruction Sheet

Installation

This guide is only intended for use in a WINDOWS™ operating environment. The purpose of this guide is to construct Allen-Bradley catalog numbers and list prices for NEMA contactors and starters available from the A-B Express Fast Ship Program. By specifying product attributes such as motor voltage, horsepower, enclosure requirements, and other options, this selection guide will construct the proper catalog number and list price for the product that will satisfy the application requirements. A report can then be generated which will summarize the input and results. After selecting the required Bulletin Number, refer to the HELP menu for complete operating instructions.

To install program on hard drive:

1. Bring up the Program Manager in WINDOWS.
2. Insert disk into the A drive.
3. From the File menu, select Run.
4. On the Command line, type in A: SETUP, then click on OK button.
5. The disk will then automatically setup the A-B Express Selection Guide in its own program group. Click on OK button when prompted.
