

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Rockwell Automation Named One of World's Most Ethical Companies for the Fifth Time

SINGAPORE – 18 March 2013 – For the fifth time, the Ethisphere Institute has named Rockwell Automation (NYSE: ROK) as one of the “World’s Most Ethical (WME) Companies”, a recognition that highlights companies that outperform industry peers when it comes to business ethics. The Ethisphere Institute is a leading international organisation dedicated to the creation, advancement and sharing of best practices in business ethics, governance, anti-corruption and sustainability.

“The 2013 WME companies are those that truly embrace ethical business practices and demonstrate industry leadership, forcing peers to follow suit or fall behind,” said Alex Brigham, Executive Director of Ethisphere. “More companies applied for the World's Most Ethical Companies recognition this year than any year in the past, which demonstrates that ethical activity is an important part of many of these companies' business models.”

“It is because of the decisions our employees make every day that we are regarded as one of the World’s Most Ethical Companies,” explained Keith D. Nosbusch, Rockwell Automation Chairman and CEO. “Integrity is a core company value and a critical part of who we are as a company. It is as important as delivering quality products and providing excellent customer service.”

The most recent Ethisphere listing is the latest in a series of honours for Rockwell Automation. The Council of Better Business Bureaus (BBB) recognised Rockwell Automation with the 2012 BBB

Spare Allen-Bradley Parts

International Torch Award for Marketplace Excellence. Additionally, the Foundation for Financial Service Professionals presented Rockwell Automation with the 2012 American Business Ethics Award.

Rockwell Automation also announced today that its 2012 Corporate Responsibility Report is now available online and in print. Besides detailing the company's approach to ethical business practices, the report provides updates on the company's environmental, employee safety and culture, and community relations efforts.

To learn more about Rockwell Automation's corporate responsibility practices and programmes, please go to Rockwell Automation Corporate Responsibility.

About Rockwell Automation

Rockwell Automation (NYSE: ROK), the world's largest company dedicated to industrial automation and information, makes its customers more productive and the world more sustainable. Headquartered in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Rockwell Automation employs over 22,000 people serving customers in more than 80 countries.

Photo

http://www.flickr.com/photos/httpwwwflickrcomphotosrockwell_automation/

Caption:

More than 48,000 square feet of sedum (flowering plants) and native perennials cover the green roof atop Rockwell Automation global headquarters in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Worldwide, Rockwell Automation reduced work-related injuries or illnesses for the fifth consecutive year at its 12 global manufacturing facilities. These and other accomplishments are covered in the company's new 2012 Corporate Responsibility Report.

Photos/Multimedia Gallery Available:

<http://www.businesswire.com/multimedia/home/20130306005185/en/>

Media contact:

Citra Prasetyo
Asia-Pacific Connections for Rockwell Automation
citra@apconnections.com
+65 6334 9045

###

Spare Allen-Bradley Parts